Spiritual and Academic engagements for the holidays

Trying to keep kids spiritually and academically engaged during the holidays can be challenging.

We have a few suggestions to help support a balanced and meaningful break:

- Create a simple daily routine: A light structure helps children stay grounded while still enjoying their time off.
- For students in grades 1 – 5, please have your child spend 20 minutes per day on IXL.
- Incorporate spiritual moments: Short reminders, duas, or reading a page of Qur'an together can nurture faith throughout the break.
- Encourage reading: Set aside quiet reading time each day. Let children choose books they enjoy to build a love of learning.
- Explore hands-on activities: Cooking, crafts, and simple science projects keep minds active and curious.
- Limit screen time: Encourage mindful use of devices to help children stay present and engaged.
- Spend time outdoors: Fresh air and movement support focus, mood, and overall well-being.
- Reflect together: End the day with a quick gratitude moment or discussion to reinforce mindfulness and connection.

Re-enrollment and new family enrollment information

We are pleased to share that re-enrollment for current families, along with enrollment for new students, will begin on January 15, 2026. As we anticipate that classes may fill up quickly, we encourage families to watch for re-enrollment and enrollment information.
